OFFICE OF STUDENT CONDUCT AND RESPONSIBILITY

At the University of Mary Washington, Student Conduct and Responsibility (https://students.umw.edu/studentconduct/) promotes an environment of support and education for students to understand their accountability to the UMW community as well as opportunities for growth in decision making. This is done by upholding our community standards (https://www.umw.edu/about/our-principles-and-values/) and the UMW Code of Conduct (https://students.umw.edu/studentconduct/policies-and-conduct-expectations/code-of-conduct/) – the expectations that are set forth for all students on and off-campus. The Student Conduct and Responsibility office helps students explore their everyday decisions, examine personal and community impact, and participate in restorative practices.
